Reading is fun_(damental)

Conner Williams reads a book he selected from the Reading is Fundamental program in Lee County Schools. Conner, a second-grader at Southside Elementary, along with other second, third and fourth grade students, get to select four books to take home for spring break. They then get to take 12 books during summer break. According to Southside Principal Steve Carroll, the program is research being conducted by the U. S. Department of Education to see the effects of reading over breaks. He said that studies have shown that children who read over the summer every year can improve their reading ability by three to four grade levels. Program Coordinator Jana Durbin said all of the books are high quality, high interest with emphasis being placed on science and art. Parents will hear of the program at Thursday morning's breakfast at the school.

Bank deal finalized

The closing on the sale of the downtown Peoples Exchange Bank building to Lee County to be a new health department took place Monday.

The $1.6 million sale is almost complete. The deed must be written and recorded. According to a spokesperson for the Kentucky Finance Cabinet, the bank must pay the $1,600 deed tax. When that is done, and the deed recorded, then work can begin on renovation of the building.

The bank signage was removed Monday.

The county now owns the building, which will be taken off the tax rolls. Using the 2013 tax rate, and the $1.6 million assessed value, $23,472 will need to be made up by other property owners in the county.

Peoples Exchange Bank held its open house for the building on April 29, 1984.

The Lee County Fiscal Court has discussed several possible uses for the present health department building, but nothing has been decided.

The name "Peoples Exchange Bank" was removed Monday.

Over 1,700 in Lee/Owsley get insurance

Over 1,700 people in Lee and Owsley counties have enrolled in new health-care under the Kentucky version of the Affordable Care Act.

According to Gov. Steve Beshear's office, 370,000 Kentuckians signed up for coverage through kynect from October 1 through March 31.

Included in that number are 934 Lee Countians and 770 people from Owsley County.

The majority signed up with Medicaid, which is for people of lower incomes. Lee County had 822 sign up for Medicaid, while Owsley had 685.

A breakdown by age group shows for those 18 to 25 there were 160 in Lee and 159 in Owsley. The 26 to 34 group had 185 from Lee and 166 from Owsley.

Jail finances a "serious concern"

The Three Forks Regional Jail is undergoing a cash-flow problem that is causing "serious concern" by its directors, according to an audit released last week.

State Auditor Adam Edelen, in the audit of Lee County, issued an "under going concern." That concern was identified as being issued by the Three Forks Regional Jail Authority (board) on July 22, 2013.

The authority said, "Management has evaluated the Authority's ability to continue as a going concern and serious doubts have been raised. The Authority's operations have shown an operating loss over the past two years, the inmate population is decreasing and costs are increasing. These factors have caused serious concern about the Authority's ability to continue as a going concern over the next twelve months. Management is investigating options for increasing revenues and decreasing costs."

An attempt was made Tuesday to contact Authority Chair Donnie Evans of Owsley County, but was unsuccessful. However, the Enterprise was successful in contacting Lee County authority member Sam Cockerham.

"We've instructed Harvey (Jail Administrator Harvey Pelfrey) to contact the county judges advising them that the per prisoner rate is going to have to be increased," Cockerham said.

For the first several years of the jail's existence, its owners, Lee, Owsley and Wolfe counties, paid $25 per prisoner per day, and the full amount was collected each month. Breathitt County later agreed to house its inmates at the jail. Also, other counties that might not have room at a particular time pay the jail. A major source of revenue is the state, which has traditionally housed a fairly large number of prisoners at the jail.

A few years ago, the jail was in solid financial condition, and agreed to lower its per-prisoner for the counties to $22.

However, that had to be raised to $23 because of financial strains that started appearing a couple of years ago.

A review by the Enterprise of the jail's last two audits shows that its general fund, following adjustments, had $278,577 on hand for FY 2011-12, and $201,945 for FY 2012-13.

However, the adjustments covered the red ink in actual revenues and expenditures. In FY 12, revenues were $2,232,368 or $227,671 lower than the $2,460,039 budget. Expenses in the same year were budgeted to be $1,485,339. They actually turned out to be $1,743,984 or $258,645 more than expected.

The difference is a negative $486,316.

Revenues for FY 13 were budgeted to be $2,382,400. They turned out to be $2,227,823 or $154,577 less.

Expenses were expected to be $1,597,296. The audit showed they were $1,635,446 or $38,150 more.

That is a negative of $192,727.

According to jail personnel, the numbers of state and local prisoners dropped dramatically during this time. They have since rebounded because Pelfrey has been searching the state for inmates, and crime has increased in the local counties.

The jail has tried to improve its financial condition in some ways. It refinanced its bonds through the Bank of New York saving about $6,000 a year. However, some of that must go into a reserve fund that the jail cannot touch.

Expenses continue to increase.

The Kentucky Association of Counties (KACO) recently informed the jail that its liability insurance is to increase from $150,000 a year to $213,000.

Also, when the City of Beattyville increased its water and sewer rates last year, the jail's monthly bill went from $3,503 for May 2013 usage to $7,000 for December 2013.

The building, which was constructed in 2001-02 is getting older. Two HVAC units have already had to be replaced, and now the authority must pay $16,000 for a new boiler.

The county judges of the three owning counties face the issue of raising the per-prisoner rate or seeing the jail possibly going into default. If that happens, property taxes would have to be raised to make up the difference.

It's about life

This is a story about giving and receiving life.

When Rachel Reese died in March, she donated her organs to anyone who might need them. The former Lee County Ambulance Service assistant director had always been a giving person.

Rachel's parents, Tom and Sue Reese, received a letter shortly after her death from Sandy Hickey, the family aftercare coordinator for the Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates.

Hickey told the Reeses of what had happened with Rachel's donations of life. The following is from that letter.

"Rachel's left kidney was transplanted into a 44 year old female who is divorced with three daughters and one son. She has a BA in social science and was a teacher in a childcare center. She was suffering from a condition that results from the abnormal premature destruction of red blood cells. Once this process begins, the damaged red blood cells start to clog the filtering system of the kidneys. The transplant was a success and the recipient is doing well.

"The right kidney was transplanted into a 38 year old female who has been married for seven years and has two children ages 9 and 5. She is a high school graduate and has a CNA degree. She was listed for a transplant in May, 2011 after suffering from high blood pressure. Hypertension is a leading cause of kidney disease and kidney failure. The transplant was a success and she is doing well.

McCoy named to SOAR Committee

A Jackson Energy employee is a member of a diverse group of Eastern Kentucky business leaders who have been named to the Executive Committee of SOAR, Saving Our Appalachian Region.

Haley McCoy, who is Jackson Energy’s Youth Services Director and also works with economic development, is among a 15-member group named to the initiative’s Executive Committee. The announcement was made Monday in Hazard at a news conference hosted by Gov. Steve Beshear and U.S. Congressman Hal Rogers.

The Executive Committee will be co-chaired by Gov. Beshear and Rep. Rogers, and held its first meeting Monday in Hazard. The group developed a nine-month action plan to guide them as the initiative seeks continued conversations and deeper outreach throughout Kentucky’s Appalachian counties, which will culminate in a second regional summit in late fall 2014.

The executive committee will oversee design, execution, and funding of SOAR activities and will conduct the search for a permanent executive director.

McCoy, who lives in McKee, is also a member of the Christian Appalachian Project Board, as well as a director of the Young Professionals of East Kentucky. She is a graduate of Union College and the Lexington Theological Seminary.

“Jackson Energy is committed to improving economic development in the region we serve,” says Jackson Energy President & CEO Carol Wright, “and the SOAR initiative is another way we can work to improve the lives of our members.”

The committee’s nine-month action plan calls for large-scale outreach to eastern Kentucky businesses, local governments, organizations, and citizens this summer through ‘listening sessions’ to be held throughout the region. These sessions will produce detailed strategies for moving the region forward that will become part of a SOAR program of work to be presented at a regional summit in November.

Jackson Energy is a Touchstone Electric Cooperative serving over 51,000 homes and businesses in Southeastern Kentucky.

EYE EXAM MAY UNCOVER STROKE RISK

People aged fifty years and older have every reason to schedule regular comprehensive eye exams, which may uncover eye diseases and conditions that can be helped with early treatment. In addition, there is also some evidence to suggest that a thorough eye exam may help to identify those who are at increased risk for a common type of heart-rhythm disorder. “Atrial fibrillation,” which is common in older individuals, not only raises the risk of stroke, but it also triggers angina (heart-related chest pain) or heart failure in some people. If the ophthalmologist detects micro-bleeds or micro-aneurysms in the smaller vessels of the eye’s retina, patients should consider consulting with their physicians about heart monitoring.

Taking care of yourself and your heart – inside and out is a long-term commitment and also a goal to live a healthy life, one that is also harmonious. We suggest you call KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE at 606-666-9393 and schedule an appointment for a comprehensive eye exam. You can trust your eyesight to our formidable knowledge and experience. Your eyes are special and deserve the best. We’re located at 540 Jett Drive. We specialize in “EYE CARE FOR ALL AGES.”

P.S. Atrial fibrillation is the most common heart rhythm disorder. It may display no symptoms or may be associated with palpitations, fainting, chest pain, or congestive heart failure.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

By State Representative Toby Herald

House, Senate Pass Flurry of Bills While Work Continues on Budget Agreement

This past week was the final full week of the 2014 Regular Session, leaving only a few days remaining until this year’s 60-day session comes to a close.

Most activity this past week in the Capitol centered around talks between House and Senate leadership to hopefully reach a compromise on a new two-year budget for the Commonwealth, and a road plan of projects in Kentucky for the next six years.

While there are several differences between the Senate and House on these bills, one glaring difference is an issue many of us in the House took a stand against: raising taxes and increasing debt. The Senate budget and road plans removed the gas tax increase that I and many of my colleagues voted against simply because I believe it’s wrong to raise taxes in this trying economic climate.

The Senate also reduced the amount of debt in the proposed budget, bringing our debt ratio level to around the same amount. The House Democrat Leadership wanted to put another $2 billion in new debt in the budget bill, and I voted ‘no’ because I didn’t want to put this additional burden on generations of Kentuckians to come.

While discussions continued on the budget bill and road plan, the House was busy passing several bills and sending them on to Governor Beshear’s desk as we approach the end of the session.

One issue that has gained much attention is legislation granting local schools relief from the number of snow days missed this year. The House and Senate reached a compromise and passed House Bill 211, which allows school systems to dismiss on June 6th based on the number of days missed due to winter weather.

Another bill the Governor signed into law this week is House Bill 218 sponsored by Rep. Ken Upchurch, which will allow police officers to check a driver’s proof of insurance electronically and eliminating the need for motorists to carry a paper proof of auto insurance card.

The House gave final passage this week on a bill designed to help those who deal with Epileptic seizures. Senate Bill 124 grants approval for a trial study on the use of cannabis oil to treat patients with seizures and related ailments.

And legislation designed to honor and remember those who fought during ‘The Forgotten War’ was sent to the governor for his signature. Rep. Myron Dossett is the sponsor of HB 234 which designates July 27th as Korean War Armistice Day annually in Kentucky.

As the final days wind down I expect more bills will go back and forth between the House and Senate, including hopefully a budget bill that is responsible and balanced for the people of the Commonwealth.

I welcome your comments and concerns on any issues impacting our Commonwealth during these final days of the 2014 Regular Session. I can be reached through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181, or you can contact me via e-mail at toby.herald@lrc.ky.gov. You can keep track of committee meetings and potential legislation through the Kentucky Legislature Home Page at www.lrc.ky.gov, and I also encourage you to follow the House Republican Caucus on Facebook and Twitter.

Dear Editor

A few weeks ago I had hip replacement surgery and even though a Christian , I had anxiety, fear and stress from the the thoughts of what might happen. The day of surgery came and I was mortified, but a little before surgery my surgeon, Dr. Christensen, came in and got down on one knee, placed his hand on me and said a prayer for us both. A calm came over me, the Peace of God. I was ready for whatever happened, even death. So whatever your fears, troubles, sorrows or anxieties are today remember, God is only a prayer away. It was for me that day.

Bless us all,
David Jennings

A different view

By Betty Crabtree

Have you ever wondered exactly what did Jesus mean in John 13:10 when he said to Simon Peter “He who is bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean, but not all of you.”? (New King James Version) In the King James Version it says ye are clean, but not all; for in v.11. For he knew who should betray him; therefore said he, ye are not all clean, referring to Judas who betrayed him.

I think the first assumption of most believers is that as Revelation 1:5b says, unto him that loved us and washed us from our sins in his own blood, that is the meaning of ‘clean’ in John 13. But remember at the time this took place Jesus had not yet been crucified and had shed his blood. So what did he mean?

In Ephesians 5:26b it mentions ‘washing’ of water with the Word. In defining ‘word’ # 3056 in Strong’s Concordance it is defined as “The Word” is a title of Christ (John 1:1) John 1:1-2 it reads thus, In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, He was in the beginning with God. John 14:8-9 Phillip said to Jesus “Show us the Father,” to which Jesus replied, “have I been so long with you Phillip and you don’t know me, for the Father and I are One.” Then in Genesis 1:26 Then God said, “Let Us make man in our own image, according to Our likeness...”

We must remember that all Scripture is given by the inspiration of God (II Timothy 3:16) So to answer the question; verse 3 in chapter 15 of John Jesus is giving the parable of the true vine. In the amplified Bible says you are cleansed...because of the word which I have given you [the teachings I have discussed with you.] The KJV says “Now ye are clean through the world have spoken to you.” It was a present experience before the Cross. The written Word cleanses and prunes. Jesus is The Word the living Word who abides in and with us, now, if we choose to accept the gift of salvation.

Let me close with you concerning everything and is true and is no falsehood, so you must abide in (live in, never depart from) Him [being rooted in Him, knit to Him] just as [His anointing] has taught you [to do]. AMP.

Angels of Love Ministry

Angels of Love Ministry has been going through a sad thing these past few months.

Right before Christmas, my mom passed away, and she was very ill. We have lived right beside them for years. We moved here to take care of them, also to be here for my sister, Kathryn, which has lived with us ever since. She always stayed with mom.

She loves going to the ministry, and visiting with all the people. They all love her. She is very spiritual, and loves praying with people.

She has some health problems, but it helps her to get out and go. She gets to go to church three times a week, and goes on trips. It helps take her mind off her loss.

God’s word says help one another, share our burdens, have the elders of the church to minister and pray for us. That is so true. We’ve been doing it for almost 30 years. It’s not about me, me, me; it’s about what we can do to make somebody else’s day a little better.

We get to help so many hurting and lonely, needy people.

Rev. Wade Hughes is on our board at the ministry. He comes almost two times a week to pray for the ministry, and helps us help a lot of people.

James K. Dooley

James Kenneth Dooley, age 53, husband of Paula (Edwards) Dooley, passed away Friday, March 28, 2014 at the Kentucky River Medical Center in Jackson, KY.

James was born in Manchester, Clay County, KY on April 15, 1960, a son of the late Roscoe Conrad and the late Lela Dooley Cole. He was a former Correctional Officer for the Lee Adjustment Center in Beattyville, KY, served his Country proudly for 6 years in the US Navy serving around the world, enjoyed hunting and just being outdoors, and attended the Elk Lick Missionary Baptist Church in Booneville, KY.

He is survived by his loving wife of 21 years, 2 sons; Jordan Robert Dooley of Manchester, England, and James Jordan Dooley of Booneville, KY, 1 daughter; Casey Dooley of Booneville, KY, 1 brother; Phillip (Trish) Cole of Booneville, KY, 1 sister; Vickie Bowman of Beattyville, KY, along with many other loving family members and friends.

James was preceded in death by his parents, Uncle Philip Eugene Dooley, his father and mother in law; Paul and Evalee Edwards.

Funeral Service were held Monday, March 31, 2014 at 2:00 PM at the Booneville Funeral Home with Pastor David Combs officiating. James was laid to rest in the Robert Edwards Cemetery located in Anglin Branch Community of Owsley County. To leave the family a special message visit www.boonevillekyfuneralhome.com.

The Booneville Funeral Home in charge of all arrangements.

People have to have a heart for people; to be a servant for God.

I’ve been doing God’s work for almost 30 years, going anywhere they would let me do his work volunteering here in Lee County.

We are getting all our spring clothes out – always buy one, get one free.

Stop by for coffee. Have prayer with us.

Some people just like visiting; going in our prayer room praying, or let us all pray for them. There are lots of needy, suffering people in need.

It sure wasn’t because the roads weren’t kept cleared this winter that I could not go to work. Ferrell Wise and those county workers kept it very clean.

Thanks to a good magistrate, Dean Noe, a good judge for their support on the roads.

Spencer Ridge was great. God bless each and every one for their support and prayers. We’re blessed to have such great Christian people to help.

DEFEATED FOE POWER

Christ’s work on the cross brought about the defeat of our chief enemy. Jesus said in Luke 10:18, “I beheld Satan as lightning falling from the sky.” He added to his followers, “...I give you power to tread on serpents (demons)...over all the power of the enemy.” (10:19)

At Easter we celebrate Christ victory over the power of evil. It was on the cross our enemies’ power was defeated.

We sing that great song, “There is power in the blood.” There are so many songs in our hymnals about the power of Christ atoning blood. “What can wash away my sin nothing but the blood of Jesus.” Jesus and Jesus alone has the power to forgive sin. It is the work along.

PRESENCE

After Jesus’ death and resurrection he was able now to send the Holy Spirit so his presence would be with us, ever within us. Evil’s presence was defeated.

Jesus said, “I am with you even until the end of the world. I will never forsake or leave you.”

PURPOSE

Jesus’ purpose is to seek and to save that which was lost.

Satan’s purpose: “The thief (Satan) cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy.” (John 10:10)

Jesus said, “...I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.” (Matt. 5:17)

LEE COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

LCMS welcomes new student teacher

Lee County Middle and Lee County High School welcomes new student teacher, Mr. Joey Stamper. Mr. Stamper is student teaching under Ms. Jessica Napier, the physical education and health teacher.

Mr. Stamper was raised here in Beattyville and graduated from Lee County High School in 2008. He has played baseball ever since he was little and was part of two regional championships at Lee County High School. He went on to play college baseball at Alice Lloyd. His hobbies are mainly artistic/musical and sports. He plays drums and now learning how to play the guitar. Joey likes to go to concerts and baseball games as well.

Joey was inspired to become a teacher because of the huge role his teachers have played in his life. He said he wouldn't be who he is today without those who taught him and he wants to have that same impact on others.

He wants students to remember him as someone who cares about each individual. Furthermore, he wants students to know that he takes their education seriously and teaching them is a privilege. Joey sees himself as a teacher who is confident in his ability and is eager to sharpen his craft. He is willing to learn from other teachers and he likes to keep students active and involved. Connecting with each individual student is important to him, as he feels

Beta Club Community Service project underway

By Ashley Gibson

Right now the Lee County High School BETA Club is involved in a community service project that consists of bringing in items to donate to the Youth Service Center. Each member is required to bring at least three items to be donated to the YSC. Right now the members are supposed to bring deodorant, Ramen Noodles, or peanut butter to be donated. This is something that will help cut costs for the YSC, and it gives the kids a chance to understand how important it is to support causes, especially ones that are for their own community.

Also, LCHS BETA Club is sponsoring a fundraiser for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. The fundraiser will run from March 31st to April 7th as club members collect money donated to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society from students at LCHS. Students will donate money in their 7th period class by placing dollars in boxes marked "Dollars for Patients." The 7th period that collects the most money will be rewarded a pizza party. When asked what he thought about the fundraiser Tyler Moore said, "I think it is sweet. It's helpful, real helpful." Carlee Noble said, "I think it is good to help leukemia patients. I feel like I am helping because some people don't have enough money for treatment."

A new track season starts

By Austin Moore

The Lee County Bobcats track team is about to enter a new season. They have a new coach and a lot of new, young talent. They hired Current high school Math teacher Angie Hall.

This is Mrs. Hall's first year coaching track, but during her high school years, she was a very good runner. Coach Hall had this to say, "I'm really enjoying working with the team and appreciate the leadership senior runner Cody Johnson provides."

The team really seems to look up to senior track star Cody Johnson. All of them stated he was a great leader and good motivator. Cody is ranked 1st in the region in the 800 meter event, and he's ranked 2nd in the region in both the 1600 meter run and the 3200 meter run.

This is what he had to say about his team: "We have a lot of people on this team that love running and push themselves hard to get better. I think we'll have a good season." The Bobcats have five meets this season and then regions which will be held May 10th. Their first one is April 4th in Morgan County. Best of luck to the Lee County track team.

MathCounts team goes to sw-

By DeAnna Deaton

On March 22, 2014, MathCounts students William Hillman, Blake Coomer, DeAnna Deaton, Mollie Johnson, Rebekah Vires, Haley Mays, and Erica Cocanougher traveled to Louisville, Kentucky for the MathCounts state competition. The competition was held at the Holiday Inn on Huntsborne Parkway.

The team left school early and went shopping at Oxmoor Center Mall. After they checked in they ate pizza courtesy of the hotel. Then, once they were settled, the hotel provided them with a movie, popcorn, snow cones, corn-hole, and other math and science related games. They also had the pool open for those who wanted to swim. At 9:00 p.m., lights were out.

Breakfast was served at 7:45 a.m. Students met in the ballroom at 8:30 a.m. and waited to start the sprint round at 9:00 a.m. The sprint round consisted of thirty questions for forty minutes. After that, students competed in the target round. It was two questions per sheet with four sheets. Students then met with their team members and participated in the team round. Each team had four members with a captain. The test had ten questions and lasted for twenty minutes. At 11:15 a.m. students ate lunch. At 12:30 p.m. students assembled in the conference room for the countdown round. The top twenty student's names were written in brackets. These students competed against each other

The top four winners received a full-expense scholarship to University of Kentucky or University of Louisville. Fifth through tenth place winners won a four-year $1500 scholarship to University of Kentucky or University of Louisville. what her favorite memory had been throughout high school, she said "I have made too many great ones to be able to pick just one favorite!" When asked what her experience at Lee County High School had been like, she said "Very memorable." When asked what she would miss the most about high school, she answered "Everything! I love my friends so much. I love our memories, High school was easy for me. I'm sad about leaving." Her future plans are to attend Eastern Kentucky University and go from there—eventually be very successful. For all the future students of Lee County High School, Katie says "Enjoy it, have fun, make memories, and don't regret anything. But apply yourself and make good grades, then you can have even more fun in college!"

For all the future students of LCHS, Whitney says, "Just be yourself and always follow your heart."

Southside has reading is FUNdamental Second, third, and fourth graders at Southside Elementary are getting new books to take home and keep this week as part of a Reading Is Fundamental Grant that the school has received. They will get to choose four books to read over the upcoming long weekend, and at the end of the school year, they will get to choose twelve more to read over summer break. The books they are selecting are high interest and on their reading level.

In addition to the books that students get to select for themselves, each teacher gets eighty books for his/her classroom. The grant seeks to keep children from losing valuable reading skills when they are not in school, to inspire children to read on their own, and to help children gain a greater appreciation of art, science, and math. Kids who read over summer break and during other break times are more likely to retain valuable skills and to succeed in school.

Parent Breakfast

Southside would like to invite parents/guardians to a breakfast on April 3, 2014 from 7:30 a.m. until 8:30 a.m. This will allow parents to communicate how the year is going and what we can do to improve!

Red Carpet

Southside Elementary staff and students would like to invite you to their annual Red Carpet Ceremony. The ceremony will be at Sedley Stewart Auditorium on Thursday, April 17, 2014. K-3 will be @ 6:00 p.m. 4-6 will be @ 7:15 p.m. Please join us in celebrating our students!!

“You should receive a letter from the Lion’s Eye Bank of Lexington regarding the disposition of the corneas which were recovered.”

Erma Tirey, also of Lee County, is an organ recipient.

In 2006 her primary physician diagnosed her with bronchitis. Her condition worsened until she was diagnosed later that year at St. Joseph Hospital with a severe form of a lung disease, and she was given two to three years to live.

She said she would not accept that and was referred to the Transplant Center at the University of Kentucky. Multiple treatments and drugs were given, but nothing ultimately helped.

In September 2011 she was told she needed a double lung transplant.

She was added to the national register, and waited, constantly taking in larger and larger amounts of oxygen.

Then on January 7, 2013 she received word that she would be getting a lung.

As she was being wheeled into surgery she said she, “...prayed all the way, not for myself but for the donor’s family for giving me my second chance.”

Not long after the surgery her other lung started to fail. She was placed on a ventilator, and again, was placed on the transplant list.

“The transplant surgeon told my family I had 48 hours,” Tirey said. “Within 45 hours my new lung had arrived.”

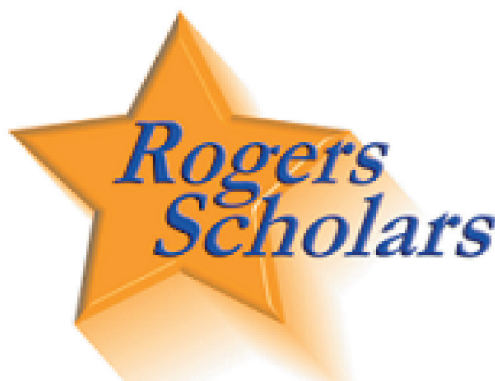

Following weeks of post-surgical treatment and rehab, Tirey was finally allowed to go home.

“I have learned about anxiety, coping with shaking hands, not being able to lift my left leg and taking care of my sugar. I have made many new caring friends that I stay in touch with. I was recently released by the surgeons.”

Tirey, along with Rachel’s parents and other family members were in Lee Circuit Court Clerk Emma Adams’ office Monday to share their stories and discuss the importance of donating organs.

April is Donate Life Awareness Month, and Kentucky’s circuit court clerks are asking everyone to sign up to be a donor.

When people get their driver’s license or state ID they can join the organ registry, and can also donate $1, which is used to educate people about the program.

Support Rogers Scholars by making an online donation April 9 on Kentucky Gives Day

The Center for Rural Development is asking residents in Southern and Eastern Kentucky to support the region’s youth and make an online donation to the Rogers Scholars program on April 9 during Kentucky Gives Day.

Kentucky Gives Day is a 24-hour online fundraising event bringing charities and Kentuckians together for a powerful day of action. The goal is to raise as much money as possible — giving every Kentuckian the opportunity to support causes they care about and giving charitable nonprofits the opportunity to share their story — all through a single online giving site and in just 24 hours.

“Your donation, as part of the Kentucky Gives Day, will go directly to support the Rogers Scholars program,” said youth programs coordinator Delaney Stephens. “No contribution is too small. Together, with your help, we can ensure that our youth develop the skills they need to be successful leaders and entrepreneurs in Southern and Eastern Kentucky.”

To make an online donation to the Rogers Scholars program on or before Kentucky Gives Day, visit <http://kygives.razoo.com/story/Center-For-Rural-Development> and click on the level of giving. All donations are 100 percent tax deductible.

For more information about the Rogers Scholars program or help in making a donation, call The Center for Rural Development at 606-677-6000 or email youth@centertech.com.

“The Rogers Scholars program was the little shove that I needed to go do something big,” said Rogers Scholars graduate Faith Cull, who coordinated efforts to build Firebook Park in Pulaski County. “I am grateful that I could be the leader of a project that will make lives of people happier now and for generations to come.”

Rogers Scholars—The Center’s flagship youth program—provides leadership and college scholarship opportunities to help upcoming high school juniors in Southern and Eastern Kentucky develop the skills they need to seize their potential as the region’s next generation of business leaders and entrepreneurs.

Since 1998, 936 high school students have graduated from Rogers Scholars, and potential scholarships valued at more than $7.2 million have been offered to graduates by 17 participating colleges and universities.

Kentucky Gives Day is a collaboration of the Kentucky Nonprofit Network, Inc., participating nonprofits and corporate and media partners. Kentucky Nonprofit Network, Inc., the state’s association of charities, exists to serve, strengthen and advance the Commonwealth’s nonprofit organizations.

Earth-Shaking GPS News

By Alex H. Kasprak

National Aeronautics and Space Administration

Early Saint Patrick’s Day morning, residents of Los Angeles woke up to a jolt. The ground was rumbling. Then, suddenly, it seemed as if the whole world was kicked out of place. It was an earthquake.

Within seconds, computers at the United States Geological Survey pinpointed the quake’s center and calculated how strong it was. They figure that out with a network of seismometers—tools that measures how much the ground shakes. But some scientists think that GPS (Global Positioning System) devices can help provide the same information even faster and with greater accuracy.

Getting this information right as soon as possible is important. That’s because the big waves traveling through the ground from an earthquake are slow enough that you can actually warn other areas to prepare for some shaking before the waves get there.

But right now it can be hard to get an accurate estimate right away. Sometimes the strength of a quake or the location of its center is miscalculated at first. The St Patrick’s Day quake, for example, was originally reported as being stronger than it actually was.

And this is where GPS comes into play. That’s right, the very same system that tells you where you are on the Earth and helps you navigate to the nearest pizzeria, may also monitor ground motion caused by earthquakes. Scientists are currently testing such a system. They are taking existing GPS base stations—with extremely accurate GPS receivers—and adding new tools to them so they can sense subtle movements in the ground as they occur.

The GPS base station provides the location down to a few centimeters. The new tools monitor and detect slight movements of the Earth’s crust at the station’s location. With a network of these stations, you may have enough information to estimate the earthquake’s center and its magnitude and then issue a warning automatically and within seconds.

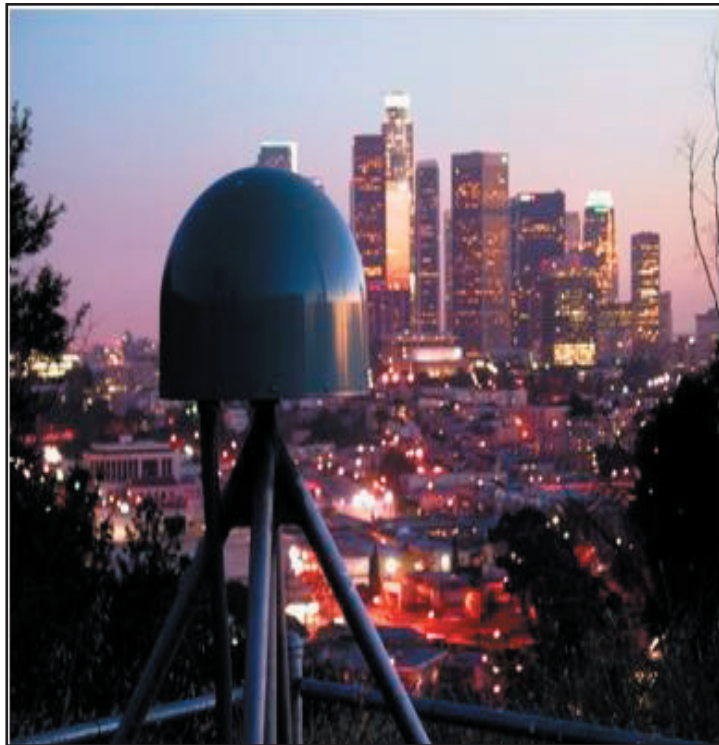

This would not help people right near the center of the earthquake. Yet even a few seconds of warning could be the difference between life and death for people further away. They could prepare by taking cover, shutting down dangerous things like natural gas lines, stop elevators at the nearest floor, and slow down moving trains.

Earthquake monitoring is not easy. Predicting earthquakes remains pretty much impossible. But an early warning issued by a network of extremely accurate GPS stations could be just the tool to help reduce some of the risks of these Earth-shaking natural disasters in the future.

Learn about how GPS works at NASA’s Space Place: <http://spaceplace.nasa.gov/gps> and be sure to check out a fun animation and poster about how it can be used to hunt down a tasty pizza: <http://spaceplace.nasa.gov/gps-pizza>.

*From school page Literary Circles

By William Kehler

Literary Circles are small group interactions where students discuss books they have read. Students are presented with a selection of books during class, and they are tasked to pick a book and join in a group with other students reading the same. Within Literary Circles, students focus on character analysis, theme development, and any other topic they’re interested in.

As of right now, literary circles are being used in freshman English classrooms with hopes it will be in middle school and all high school English classrooms in the near future. Mrs. Parrot says, “At first literary circles were a struggle. But after a lot of work and making changes when needed, I feel that they have been successful since Christmas. Literary circles are a great activity for everyone. Students are more engaged in the text, stay on topic, and are excited to discuss what they have read.” When asked about Literary Circles Chris Prewitt said, “I think Literary circles oar fun because you get to hear what other people say about the story.” Tristan Farthing stated, “We get to talk a lot about the book—about how good it is and stuff like that. It’s good for your reading too.”

Fair Housing

April is Fair Housing Month

Kentucky River Community Care reminds everyone that April is National Fair Housing Month and commemorates the 46 year anniversary of the Fair Housing Act of 1968.

Housing is a basic human need. Having a home instills a sense of safety and security. Our mission at Kentucky River Community Care is to provide safe, quality, affordable housing opportunities, and we are committed to our mission. Our core values guide our work, as we believe that everyone deserves to have a safe place to live and that everyone has a right to fair housing, free from discrimination.

The Fair Housing Act was introduced as a component of the Civil Rights Act of 1968. The act provides equal opportunity to all who buy, sell, rent, finance, or insure housing. In a nutshell, the act protects each individual's basic right to choose where to live and ensures equal treatment after obtaining housing.

The Fair Housing Act prohibits discrimination in housing based on race, color, national origin, or religion. The Kentucky General Assembly later broadened the law to prohibit discrimination in housing based on disability, gender, and familial status.

On February 3, 2012, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) issued a final rule that prohibits discrimination on the basis of actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity, or marital status in regards to housing programs assisted by HUD or subject to a mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

4.0% RATE

4.6% APR

RHS
30-Year
Fixed

The Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is accurate as of March 18, 2014. The APR and interest rate are based upon a variety of assumptions and conditions. RHS/USDA loans have location restrictions and income limits. The property loan approval and terms are dependent upon the specific characteristics of your loan transaction and your credit history up to the time of closing along with Peoples Exchange Bank underwriting criteria. No down payment is required for this type of loan; however, you may be required to pay closing costs and prepaid expenses at closing. Property must be located in an eligible area. Income limits apply to all members of the household and differ depending on the County. 100% financing is eligible for existing homes or construction. There is no requirement for "first-time" home buyer. No penalty for pre-payment. An example of repayment is 360 payments of $64.42 per $10,000 borrowed. The monthly payment amount displayed includes principal, interest, property taxes, homeowner's insurance and required USDA annual fee. The APR for this loan product reflects the interest rate and approximate cost of the prepaid finance charges, but does not include other closing costs or discount points.
